

ADCY5-related dyskinesia affects males and females in equal numbers. The exact number of people who have this disorder is unknown. Rare disorders like ADCY5-dyskinesia often go misdiagnosed or undiagnosed, making it difficult to determine their true frequency in the general population. The disorder is almost certainly underrecognized and underdiagnosed.