

Relapsing polychondritis affects males and females in equal numbers. Symptoms usually begin between forty and sixty years of age.