

Schinzel Giedion syndrome is a very rare disorder that affects males and females in equal numbers. The birth prevalence is unknown. There have been 50 cases reported worldwide.