

Ameloblastic carcinoma affects males and females in equal numbers. They may affect individuals of any age including children, but the mean age of affected individuals is approximately 30 years old.